

Promotion of Fruit and Vegetables for Health in Africa (PROFAV): a planning meeting for a PROFAV African Regional Workshop Nairobi, 3 September 2009, 14.00hrs - in conjunction with AAHC

Participants: all AAHC participants are cordially invited to attend

Main aims:

- Familiarise AAHC participants with the FAO-WHO Fruit and Vegetables for Health (PROFAV) initiative and the “Kobe Framework” for promoting fruit and vegetable consumption at national level
- Exchange of ideas on implementing the “Kobe Framework” among horticulture and health/nutrition experts from African countries
- Sow seeds for strengthened collaboration on fruit and vegetable promotion among agriculture, health and education sectors
- Develop a shared strategy for the implementation of a regional PROFAV workshop for Anglophone African countries
- Identify members of an organizing committee for PROFAV, venue and timing

Agenda

- Brief presentation of FAO-WHO Fruit and Vegetables for Health Initiative
- Presentation of highlights of PROFEL Yaoundé 2007 and Lisbon 2005 workshop conclusions and recommendations
- Presentation of Cameroon’s recent experience in building a PROFEL/PROFAV national platform

